PREFATORY NOTE BY MR. FREUND

At this moment, when a large and important part of my collection is to be disposed of by unrestricted public sale, I feel it my duty to say a few words of explanation to my numerous friends and patrons who might have wondered why a business as prosperous as mine should enter into such a proceeding.

It has been known to but a few that about five years ago I entered into partnership with a gentleman who for some time has not taken an active part in the business. Having decided recently to dissolve this partnership, we have agreed that it would be only fair to both of us to dispose of the art objects in which we are interested at a public sale, under the management of the American Art Association.

While I naturally regret to see this unique collection—the result of my personal and indefatigable researches all over Europe—scattered to the many who will be purchasers, it is necessary for me to do this in order to carry on my new enterprises along personal lines and on a much larger scale.

KARL J. FREUND.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION
BY MRS. FREDERICK C. HAVEMEYER

It would seem to thinking people that public taste is constantly improving and very soon those who are still in ignorance of true form and color must remain forever dissatisfied!

This collection of objects so delicate and subtle in feeling will not fail to be appreciated by those who are looking for an expression of their own individuality.

It is hoped and believed that each article so carefully and affectionately chosen will find its true environment in the home of its future possessor.

(Signed) LILLIE HAVEMEYER.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. Any bid which is merely a nominal or fractional advance may be rejected by the auctioneer, if, in his judgment, such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

2. The highest bidder shall be the buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more bidders, the auctioneer shall either decide the same or put up for re-sale the lot so in dispute.

3. Payment shall be made of all or such part of the purchase money as may be required, and the names and addresses of the purchasers shall be given immediately on the sale of every lot, in default of which the lot so purchased shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

Payment of that part of the purchase money not made at the time of sale shall be made within ten days thereafter, in default of which the undersigned may either continue to hold the lots at the risk of the purchaser and take such action as may be necessary for the enforcement of the sale, or may at public or private sale, and without other than this notice, re-sell the lots for the benefit of such purchaser, and the deficiency (if any) arising from such re-sale shall be a charge against such purchaser.

4. Delivery of any purchase will be made only upon payment of the total amount due for all purchases at the sale.

Deliveries will be made on sales days between the hours of 9 A. M. and 1 P. M., and on other days—except holidays—between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M.

Delivery of any purchase will be made only at the American Art Galleries, or other place of sale, as the case may be, and only on presenting the bill of purchase.

Delivery may be made, at the discretion of the Association, of any purchase during the session of the sale at which it was sold.

5. Shipping, boxing or wrapping of purchases is a business in which the Association is in no wise engaged, and will not be performed by the Association for purchasers. The Association will, however, afford to purchasers every facility for employing at current and reasonable rates carriers and packers; doing so, however, without any assumption of responsibility on its part for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such service.

6. Storage of any purchase shall be at the sole risk of the purchaser. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter, while the Association will exercise due caution in caring for and delivering such purchase, it will not hold itself responsible if such purchase be lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed.

Storage charges will be made upon all purchases not removed within ten days from the date of the sale thereof.

7. Guarantee is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness or authenticity of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing, or any imperfection not noted. Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, after which it is sold "as is" and without recourse.

The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly, and will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued, and, in its judgment, may either sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby would become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without proper foundation.

Height, 8 inches; width, 6 inches.

346—SEVENTEENTH CENTURY OBLONG SPANISH WAX PICTURE

Figure of Saint Anne, seated with the youthful Virgin at her side. The faces are modeled in colored wax and the garments are of rich materials embroidered in gold and bordered with ermine. Painted background. In old carved wood and gilt frame.

Height, 11 inches; width, 7½ inches.

347—SET OF FOUR EIGHTEENTH CENTURY SAVOYARD WAX PICTURES

Rectangular shape. Subjects representing the "Four Seasons," fashioned in wax, wood, metals and textiles and shown as outdoor scenes typifying the four seasons of the year.

Spring is shown as a scene outside a country house, the master with a spade in his hand, and his wife seated, listening to an orchestra of Amorini playing various instruments. An inscription on the house: "Nescitis qua hora fur veniet 1751."

Summer, as a lady seated in the fields while her servants and a band of Amorini are harvesting.

Autumn, as a lady, and her husband, who carries a fowling-piece, listening to an orchestra of Amorini.

Winter, as a lady, carrying a muff, approaching, with her husband, a house inside of which Amorini are warming themselves at a fire.

All the pictures have painted backgrounds. In molded ebonized wood frames with broken angles, and glazed.

Heights, 17½ inches; widths, 21½ inches.

348—SET OF FIVE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY ENGLISH WAX MEDALLIONS

Oval shape. Modeled in white wax and in alto-rilievo, with subjects in the style of the sixteenth century Italian Renaissance. The subjects are as follows: (1) "The War between Jupiter and the Titans," the God in Olympus surrounded by the Pagan Deities hurling thunderbolts at the Titans on earth; (2) "The Feast of the Gods"—the Gods and Goddesses of classic mythology seated feasting at a round table with Hebe and Apollo in the foreground; (3) "The Nuptials of Perseus and Andromeda"—the Hero in the foreground displaying the Medusa's Head to Cepheus and his companions, who are turned into stone on the spot; (4) "The Wild Boar Hunt"—a band of hunters, some on horseback and some on foot, armed with spears, bows and arrows, pursuing and killing a wild boar; (5) "The Gods Taking Part in the Trojan War"—the gods from Olympus shooting at the mortals on the Plain of Troy. (After a picture by Poussin.) Molded black wood frames.

Heights, 5½ inches; widths, 9½ inches.

Note: This set of medallions possesses extreme interest owing to the possibility that they include the hitherto unidentified originals of the famous set of four, "Jupiter and the Titans," the "Feast of the Gods," the "Nuptials of Perseus and Andromeda," "Wild Boar Hunt," which were among Josiah Wedgwood's earliest productions in black basaltes. It is certain that they resemble these in every detail.

421—TWO SEVENTEENTH CENTURY FRENCH OIL PAINTINGS BY JACQUES CALLOT

One represents a company of five men seated drinking and conversing at a table spread in the open air under a tree with spreading branches. In the distance are buildings, one with a flight of stairs, the other evidently a barn, and in the middle foreground is a square well-head with a woman drawing water. On the extreme left of the spectator is a figure, quite characteristic of the painter, of a French peasant carrying in one hand an earthenware demijohn and holding a stick over his shoulder. The other panel represents a pedimented classic building with an arched arcading forming the front and with groups of cripples and beggars in the foreground. On the extreme right is a figure of a peasant seated under a rocky cliff, dressed in loose blue breeches and a yellow jacket, who directs attention to the scene with outstretched arm. Painted in oils upon panels. Framed in ~~old~~ carved and gilt walnut frames.

Height, $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches; width, 10 inches.

422—WATER COLOR PAINTING BY HUBERT ROBERT

Painted in water colors, heightened with gouache, with a subject of an exterior view of the Coliseum of Rome with figures in eighteenth century costume and peasants driving laden asses in the foreground. Signed in the left-hand corner: H. Robert 1760. In carved wood and gilt frame.

Height, 17½ inches; length, 25 inches.

From the collection of Madame Cornès of Paris.

Note: Hubert Robert (1733-1808), known as "Robert des Ruines" from fondness for painting classic ruins, spent many years in Rome.

423—PAIR OF OIL PAINTINGS OF THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY FRENCH SCHOOL

Subject of a shepherd boy garlanded with wreaths of vine leaves and of a young woman in eighteenth century costume with wreath of flowers and holding a bunch of flowers in her hand. Painted in oils on canvas. In contemporary carved wood and gilt frames.

Height, 20 inches; width, 16 inches.

424—SIXTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN OIL PAINTING

Attributed to Bernardino Luini, 1475-1533. Subject representing the Madonna leaning over the Infant Christ lying in the manger dressed in swaddling clothes. At the Virgin's side is a portrait of the donor, an elderly clean-shaven man with red coat and black under-jerkin, his hands raised in the attitude of adoration. In old molded and gilt frame.

Height, 19 inches; length, 24 inches.

425—EARLY NINETEENTH CENTURY FRENCH WATER COLOR PAINTING

Subject of the ruins of a classic temple with landscape and figures. Painted in water colors. Signed in the lower left-hand corner, "N. A. Delaisse," and dated 1814. In contemporary wood and gilt frame.

Height, 20 inches; length, 24 inches.

From the collection of Madame Myssart of Nice.

Note: N. A. Delaisse (1753-1828) was a pupil of Leconte and Vasse and a traveling companion of Hubert Robert, whose style he imitated.

Third Afternoon

- 426—OIL PAINTING OF THE FIFTEENTH CENTURY BURGUNDY SCHOOL
Madonna and Child, painted almost in monotone, and heightened with flesh tones, on a matted gold background. The Virgin, with a simple drapery of hood and mantle, holds in her lap the Child, who is habited in a single garment. In painted wood frame.

Height, 26 inches; length, 20 inches.

Note: The primitive character of the painting closely resembles that of the Italian School of the fourteenth century and renders this picture of unusual interest.

- 427—PAIR OF SEVENTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN PAINTINGS OF STILL LIFE

One, of a spaniel lying upon a cushion, a table top with ormolu frame, a pineapple cup in gold and other objects against a background of dark red drapery festoons with gilt tassels; the other, of an open book of music, bound books, musical instrument and gold inkstand resting on a stone pedestal with a dark red drapery background. Painted in oil on canvas. In old molded black and gold frame.

Height, 28 inches; length, 37 inches.

- 428—SET OF TEN EIGHTEENTH CENTURY ENGLISH PAINTINGS ON GLASS

By George Morland. This set represents the months of the year treated in a characteristic Morland fashion. The months are symbolized by contemporary English pastoral subjects representing Haymaking, Sheep-shearing, Village Maypole, Hop Picking, Harvesting, Fishing, Fruit Picking, Skating, etc. The pictures are painted in oval panels within square panels, the spandrels being painted in imitation of marble. Below some the titles are painted. (Four cracked.) Arranged, by the present owner, so as to form the decorations of a room designed in the Georgian manner.

Height, 25¾ inches; width, 19¾ inches.

Note: These subjects are known only by their mezzotinted reproductions, the originals of which were for many years supposed to be lost oil paintings by Morland. It is known, however, that Morland sometimes painted upon glass, and the careful execution of these panels seems to warrant the conclusion that their painter was Morland himself.

487—PAIR OF OLD CHINESE-LOWESTOFT VASES OF UNUSUAL SIZE

Urn-shaped bodies, with upstanding scrolled and voluted handles, domed covers with pineapple finials, circular molded feet and square bases. Invested with a fine white glaze and decorated, as to the bodies, with oval medallions occupied within raised molded and gilt borders by baskets of flowers and cornucopiae of fruits painted in dark blue heightened with gold. From the handles depend raised festoons and pendants of an unusual design of voluted husk pattern painted in dark blue and yellow, while the body is semé with floral sprays painted in colors. Around the shoulders are meander pattern borders, bands of gold dots on a salmon-pink ground and bands of a looped design painted in dark blue. From these borders depend tassels painted in blue, red and gold, while above are clusters of pointed leaves and flowers painted in dark blue, red and gold. The neck is decorated with floral sprays, branches of trees and birds, the rim with a border of raised roundels of gold on a red ground, and one of blue and red scrollings; five-leaved medallions in red. The covers have broad borders of imbricated pattern, the pine-leaf finials are painted in gold and the scrolled and voluted handles in pink and gold. The feet have bands of pointed leaves painted in dark blue and gold and the square bases are marbled.

Heights, 27 inches.

GARNITURE

in three pieces. The vase-shaped centrepiece is formed of circular cresting and ring of chased gilt ormolu supported by a diamond cut cylindrical glass stem resting on four chased ormolu paw feet and a circular ormolu base. The body and cresting are hung with cut glass lusters and the interior is fitted with an adjustable cluster of four candle-sockets. The side pieces are formed as curved chased ormolu candelabra with ormolu candle-sockets, supported on branches of honeysuckle design from which hang cut glass lusters. The center stem from which these spring is supported on a chased ormolu tripod of eagle's head and claw form, draped with three floral festoons of ormolu. On circular molded bases, with large beaded bands. The central stem is hung with cut-glass lusters to match those of the side branches.

Heights, 25 inches.

489—PAIR OF EIGHTEENTH CENTURY FRENCH TERRA-COTTA VASES

Urn-shaped bodies, with projecting handles, formed as grotesque masks holding rings in their mouths and supporting festoons of fruits, flowers, leaves and drapery, molded and domed covers, with acanthus-leaf and grape finials. The bodies are decorated with flutings and bands of bead and cord ornamentation. On circular fluted feet with square bases.

491—SET OF FIVE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN WALL HANGINGS OF THE DIRECTOIRE PERIOD

Of a Venetian weave of long-piled velvet. These hangings are of similar colorings and designs. Above are deep borders of green grounds centered with octagonal medallions flanked by birds and acanthus-leaf scrollings in rich colorings. The medallions are surmounted by ducal coronets and occupied by script monograms "A. M." in green on blue ground. Below hang lambrequins of festooned draperies in blue dotted with quatrefoil flower forms in green and looped by cords and tassels. Below are rich crimson grounds and the upper portions of heraldic shields with the arms of "a paly of five, erminois and gules," surmounted by a ducal coronet and mantled with green scrollings, standards and bannerets.

Height, 6 feet 6 inches; width, 5 feet.

492—SIXTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH TAPESTRY

Brussels weave. The center is occupied with the figure of a huntsman in classic costume with a hunter's horn held in one hand. He is urging on his caracolling horse through a heavily wooded landscape with a stream of water in the middle distance and hills, rocks and trees in the background. The foreground is treated as a grassy meadow plentifully besprinkled with flowers.

494—EARLY SIXTEENTH CENTURY FRENCH TAPESTRY PANEL

Burgundian weave. The subject represents Queen Claude of France, the daughter of Louis XII and the wife of Francis I, accompanied by a lady of her Court. The two figures, facing each other, occupy the center of the panel, the Queen, who holds in her hand the royal scepter, being dressed in a rich embroidered dress of the period trimmed with ermine. Her companion is in a dress of almost equal richness, the skirt being especially noticeable from its rich embroidery in a design of acanthus-leaf scrollings. These figures stand in a grassy mead of pale tones of green with a blue sky. The panel is surrounded by a border of a bead and reel patterning in white and light yellow on a darker yellow ground, while above is an oblong panel of Renaissance "grotesqueries and singeries." In the center, over a satyr mask, are two charging rams flanked by acanthus-leaf scrollings and monkeys playing harps, with festoonings of a husk pattern, all in light tones of greens and yellows, with touches of strong blue, on a buff-colored ground.

Height, 8 feet; width, 5 feet.

495—MID-SEVENTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH TAPESTRY PANEL

Of Brussels weave. The decoration consists of a series of detached domestic figure subjects of realistic character. In the center a cavalier in seventeenth century Flemish costume with a wide-brimmed plumed hat is riding upon a rearing horse, its hindquarters turned towards the spectator, and with a dog running at its feet. On his right is seated a woman whose robe is embroidered with blue fleurs-de-lis and who holds by the hand a boy in contemporary costume. On the left are the standing figures of a man and woman, the latter in a panniered dress with a lawn ruff encircling her neck. In the background are smaller figures, sitting and walking. All these figures are on a ground of a grassy mead sprinkled with flowers and leaves.

The broad border is a Renaissance treatment of symbolic figures, some supporting baskets of flowers and fruits, flanked by caryatids and panels of flowers and fruits. The upper border is interrupted in the center by a scrolled panel containing a subject of a man and woman seated and embracing. The color treatment is conventional and its scheme somewhat vivid. (Slight restorations.)

Height, 6 feet 8 inches; width, 10 feet 7 inches.

496—LATE SIXTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH TAPESTRY

Brussels weave. The subject is a portion of an Italian Renaissance "Triumph," in this case probably of Music. The entire background of the tapestry is occupied with the lower portion of a highly decorative triumphal car drawn by two horses who fill up the right-hand portion of the panel. Immediately in front of these horses a youth, in a graceful attitude plays upon a viola, while in the center another youth upholds a large ornamental vase. On the left is a soldier carrying a shaped and scrolled shield and accompanied by a band of youths and maidens dancing and carrying branches of laurel. In the immediate grassy foreground are upspringing groups of flowers. The figures are dressed in classic costumes and the color scheme is one of strong reds, blues and yellows.

Height, 6 feet 6 inches; width, 11 feet.

497—EARLY FIFTEENTH CENTURY FRENCH TAPESTRY PANEL

Of Burgundian weave. The subject is a symbolic rendering of a passage in the Roman de la Rose by Guillaume de Lorris and Jean de Meung. In the center of the panel is a conventional fountain with two stone basins, from which water is gushing, and surmounted by a vane-like finial. On either side of this fountain stands a symbolic female figure, that on the right, with a pointed headdress, holding a conventional rose, that on the left, with a wimple headdress, holding a lighted torch. Their costumes are of a fifteenth-century character of looped-up overskirts over plainly draped skirts. In the one case the overskirt is of yellow and the petticoat of a checkered patterning in white and blue on a brown ground; in the other case, the petticoat is yellow and the overskirt of checkered pattern. The lower part of the field is paneled with conventional lily forms in yellow and blue on brown grounds. Above as a background are conventionalized Gothic buildings of gabled houses and towers, across which run angular scrolled labels lettered in Gothic text characters, those on the right in brown on a yellow ground, those on the left in yellow on a brown ground. In the center, above, is an oblong panel of Gothic text lettering in yellow on a brown ground, while in the upper right-hand corner is a waving conventional banner lettered in brown on a light ground. The panel is surrounded by a border of a green ribbon in a meander design with conventionalized flower forms. (Slight restorations.)

Height, 8 feet 3 inches; width, 10 feet.

498—EARLY EIGHTEENTH CENTURY FRENCH TAPESTRY PANEL

Of Beauvais weave. Decorated with a classic mythological subject. In the center are two figures, a man and woman, both habited in Roman costume, the man with a rich blue tunic, blue greaves and light yellow mantle, the woman in a red tunic shot with gold, a white mantle and red greaves. On the right is a classic portico with Ionic columns and female caryatid figures. Towards this bounds a lion to which the female directs the attention of her companion, who is fondling with one hand the head of a lioness. In the foreground a monkey is riding on a tortoise, while on a molded balustrading on the left is perched a bright-plumaged macaw. On the left is a group of verdure with trees and flowers, and in the distance a formal Italian garden with a fountain and an arcaded wall. The border shows, at top and bottom festoons of flowers and fruits, and at the sides pendants of similar character tied with looped ribbons; the lower corners are occupied with large shells, the upper corners with scrolled acanthus leaves. (Restored.)

Height, 7 feet; width, 10 feet 6 inches.

499—SEVENTEENTH CENTURY FLORENTINE TAPESTRY CARPET, KNOWN AS THE "CARPET OF THE POPES"

Square shape, made in Florence in a weave of an Aubusson character. The center is occupied with an oval medallion decorated with the Papal tiara and keys, and knotted ribbons, twice repeated, in red, blue and yellow on a light green ground and bordered with a varicolored wreath of flowers and fruits on a yellow ground. Surrounding this is a band of blue enclosed by festoons of fruits supported by scrolled acanthus leaves and ribbons. The main field is of rich red, with boldly scrolled acanthus-leaf ornamentations in the angles, and the main border is of a design of twisted ribbons of light purple and blue entwined around a green floriated rod between two bands of leaf scrollings, with counter grounds of blue and rose color. The corners are occupied with circular wreathed medallions enclosing the heraldic devices of the Sforzas (a Tower), of the Colonnas (a Column), of the Borgias (a barry of four, or and argent), and a Latin inscription "S. S. Basilica Vatic."

Length, 9 feet 8 inches; width, 9 feet 8 inches.

(Illustrated)

Note: This carpet, which was acquired at Nantes from a descendant of Baron Gourgaud, one of Napoleon's generals who accompanied him to St. Helena, was woven early in the seventeenth century at Florence for the use of the Vatican. Here it covered the floor of the Pope's private chamber for many years until it formed a part of Napoleon's spoils at the sack of Rome, and was by him presented to Baron Gourgaud.

500—SEVENTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH TAPESTRY PANEL

Brussels weave. In an unusual subject of vaquero-like cattle tenders lassoing cattle. In the center of the foreground is a charging bull lassoed over its spreading horns by a horseman. On either side are other cattlemen, one of whom has lassoed a bull by the feet, and men on foot armed with spears and poles. In the distance are horsemen, armed with spears, in a landscape with trees and buildings. On either side, framing in the scene, is a massive tree-trunk with branches of foliage. The color scheme is one of low tones, the figures being outlined in black so as to separate them from the light background. The border surrounding this panel is in a Renaissance design of fruits and flowers interspersed with hares and birds, in strong greens and yellows on a pale yellow ground.

502—SEVENTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH TAPESTRY PANEL

Of Brussels weave. The subject of the center panel represents "A Roman Triumph." In the center is seen an ornate processional car drawn by two richly caparisoned horses driven by a Roman soldier. To the side of the car is affixed a trophy of arms, while the car itself is laden with the spoils and arms of the conquered—vessels of gold and caskets of jewels, battle standards, bundles of spears and javelins and swords. These are grouped around a palm tree to the trunk of which are bound the nude captives. In the background is the portico of a classic temple within which are groups of interested spectators, women as well as men. On the left, following the car, are soldiers bearing laurel branches, while on the right is a group of soldiers and citizens, the latter in seventeenth century costume, and behind them gabled buildings of contemporary architecture. The rich glowing reds, blues, yellows and greens of the picture combine to make of it a piece of fine decoration.

503—SIXTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH TAPESTRY

Arras weave. The center occupied with a subject of a "Bear Hunt in a Wood." In the immediate foreground are a leopard attacking a lion and large birds, and in the center of the composition a bear erect on its hind legs surrounded by a ring of huntsmen armed with spears and forked poles. Behind this group another bear is pursued by mounted huntsmen attended by large dogs. The background to these scenes is a landscape with trees and foliage, precipitous crags, a winding road, and in the distance buildings in the Palladian style. Surrounding the entire composition is a fine verdure treatment. The border around this panel, of exceptional excellence, is in a fine Renaissance design of figures of "Virtues," and caryatid figures supporting scrolled vases, fountains playing under cupolas, surrounded by vases of fruits and flowers and floral scrollings. Above and below are scrolled panels occupied by views of fountains and formal gardens. The color scheme of the center is a low-toned one relieved by strong greens, while that of the border is keyed to a higher note. (Restored.)

Height, 11 feet; width, 10 feet 2 inches.

504—EARLY SEVENTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH TAPESTRY PANEL

In a Brussels weave. Decorated with a subject of Alexander the Great and Statira. On the left Alexander attired as a Roman warrior, is seated on a throne under a draped canopy, while Statira, in the costume of a Persian girl, is led before him by one of his generals, also in the dress of a Roman soldier. On the right is a group of soldiers armed with short swords and spears, while in the background are seventeenth century gabled buildings, palm trees, laden camels and figures in Eastern costume. In the foreground are groups of growing flowers with leaves. The color scheme of this admirable tapestry is in rather a high key of warm browns, strong blues, pale greens, yellows and purple. (Restored.)

Height, 7 feet 3 inches; width, 14 feet 5 inches.

505—LATE SIXTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH TAPESTRY

Of Brussels weave. The subject illustrates an incident in one of the tales related by Giovanni Fiorentino in his Pecorone. In the center, on an ornamental lake, is a gondola, under the silken canopy of which a lover and his mistress are seated eating and drinking at a table. The gondolier at the stern is drinking from a tall goblet. Approaching the shore of the lake from different directions are the deceived husband and wife, respectively, of the couple in the gondola, the latter accompanied by a female attendant. In the foreground are groups of flowers with running hares and dogs, on the left a goat browsing from a grape-vine, and in the middle distance are deer. The background is a wooded landscape with a castle. The entire subject is set in a framework of a "verdure" character. The border is of garlands of fruits, flowers and foliage, interrupted in the centers above and below by circular medallions within blue scrolled borders occupied by floral festoons depending from looped ribbons. The color scheme of the central subject is a brilliant one, thrown into relief by the play of low-toned greens in the "verdure." In the border, greens and yellows predominate on a pale yellow ground.

Height, 8 feet 8 inches; width, 12 feet 6 inches.

506—EARLY SEVENTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH TAPESTRY PANEL

Brussels weave. Subject, "Alexander the Great Viewing the Spoils of the Sack of Persepolis." On the right, Alexander is standing with a spear held in one hand and directing attention with the other to the generals at his side and behind him to the soldiers in front of him and on the spectator's left who are displaying on an embroidered cloth thrown on the ground the varied spoils of war. These consist of rich stuffs and jewels. Behind this latter group is a pavilion, and in the mid-distance are seen the tents of Alexander's army with figures of the Greek soldiers. Beyond these again stretches a wooded landscape with medieval buildings, including castle and churches. The deep border is of intricate Renaissance design, the four corners being occupied by figures of the four cardinal "Virtues," the centers at the top and bottom with scrolled panels of cartouche form, occupied with genre subjects of figures in seventeenth century costume. At either side the centers have similar figure subjects, without framework of any description. The remainder of the border is composed of vases of flowers and floral panels divided by Amorini. The color scheme of the center panel is a brilliant one in which strong blue and rich yellows predominate; that of the border is of lighter blues, greens and yellows on a pale ground, so skillfully broken and blended as to give almost the prismatic effect of a Persian embroidery.

Height, 10 feet 4 inches; width, 4 feet.

507—EARLY NINETEENTH CENTURY AUBUSSON CARPET

Tapestry woven, the center being occupied by an oval medallion enclosing, upon a crimson ground, a large group of flowers naturalistically treated, and surrounded by an acanthus-leaf scrolled border in two shades of brown and by a broader border of architectural character consisting of a band of pointed leaf-forms and rosettes in light colors on a tan ground between bands of light blue and cream color. There is a rectangular outer border of similar character, and the spandrels are occupied by floral sprays.

Length, 11 feet; width, 15 feet.

508—NINETEENTH CENTURY FRENCH BRASS HANGING CHANDELIER

Urn-shaped, with domed cover and three looped handles. The upper portion is decorated with applied festoons of flowers, while from the body spring eight scrolled arms with acanthus-leaf enrichments supporting fluted candle-sockets and pierced bobèches. Suspended by eight chains. Fitted for electricity.

509—SEVENTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN WROUGHT-IRON AND BRASS
CHANCEL RAILING

Formed of two double curved side wings with a straight central division fitted with two hinged gates. The railings and gates are formed of wrought-iron columnar bars with cast brass capitals and bases and annular center moldings of brass. The gate-posts terminate in turned brass finials of vase and ball design.

Height, 3 feet 3 inches; width, 23 feet 1 inch.

510—SIXTEENTH CENTURY FLORENTINE MARBLE WALL SHRINE

Formed as a classic tablet with molded cornice and frieze, surmounted by a pediment and supported by two fluted Ionic pilasters, enclosing a round-arched recess which contains a seated figure of the Madonna.

Height, 3 feet 6 inches; width, 2 feet.

511—SEVENTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN WROUGHT-IRON WINDOW GRILLE

Upright oblong shape, the lower portion bowed and formed of connected open quatrefoils of square wrought-iron rods with a scrolled cresting of branches of pointed-leaf forms terminating in three wrought-iron acanthus-leaf scrolled finials. The sides are filled with wrought-iron strapwork scrollings. Painted green, the acanthus-leaf scrollings gilded.

Height, 5 feet 1 inch; length, 3 feet 2 inches; depth, 1 foot 1 inch.

512—EIGHTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN WROUGHT-IRON ALTAR CRESTING

Design formed of bold voluted scrollings of wrought-iron strapwork arranged in gracefully sweeping curves and enriched with applied wrought-iron acanthus-leaf scrollings. The branches are fitted with turned wooden vase-shaped candle-sockets with wrought-iron bobèches. Fashioned in four pieces and entirely gilt.

Height, 8 feet; width, 5 feet 3 inches.

513—PAIR OF LATE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY ENGLISH IRON GATES

In two leaves of upright oblong form, fashioned of square bars in an upright lattice-work design with bands of open circles at top and bottom and a square panel in the center occupied by an oval cast-iron medallion of the Duke of Northumberland's arms.

Height, 10 feet 5 inches; width, 3 feet 2 inches.

Note: These gates came from Northumberland House, London, at the period of its demolition to make room for the new Northumberland Avenue and the Hotel Métropole.

514—EIGHT EIGHTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH WROUGHT-IRON DOORS

Rectangular-shaped, formed of plates of hammered iron enclosed with wrought bands and enriched with applied decorations of repoussé wrought-iron formed, in the case of the small doors, of conventional vases of flowers and leaves and double scrollings of oak leaves and acorns enclosing rosetted medallions, and in the case of the larger doors, of diagonally crossed bands with honeysuckle pattern medallions in the centers and straight branches of pointed leaves springing from flower pots above and below. The angles are occupied with radiating shell-shaped flutings and the centers of the sides with fluted shells. The doors are equipped with wrought-iron hinge loops and the enclosing bands are secured with round-headed iron rivets.

Height, 6 feet; width, 4 feet 3 inches.

515—EIGHTEENTH CENTURY FRENCH MARBLE FOUNTAIN

Figure of a youth in classic drapery standing upon and supported by a dolphin from whose mouth spouts a stream of water forming a fountain. On rocky base.

Height, 4 feet 3 inches.

516—PAIR OF EIGHTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN WROUGHT-IRON GATES

Double gates of oblong shape of wrought-iron. Above is an elaborately scrolled frieze of bar and strap iron, having at either end vases of shaped and repoussé iron plates filled with conventional flowers of wrought-iron. The frieze is surmounted by a semi-circular lunette or cresting formed of scrolled strap-iron having in the center a fan-shaped acanthus-leaf ornamentation of wrought-iron and on either side two dragons of shaped and repoussé iron. The gates are paneled with broad borders by heavy square iron bars crossing at the angles, these borders being occupied by ironwork, scrollings and floriations. The center panels are also occupied by an elaborately scrolled and floriated pattern of iron strapwork having in the center a large vase of shaped and repoussé iron with flowers of wrought-iron, supported on a shaped cartouche with two crossed trumpets of shaped and repoussé iron, while above are shaped and repoussé helmets. Below are borders of scrolled and floriated iron strapwork. These gates have been completely gilded and much of the original gilding remains.

Height, 13 feet 3 inches; width, 10 feet 2 inches.

517—EIGHTEENTH CENTURY FRENCH MARBLE BUST OF LOUIS XIV

518—LATE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY ENGLISH OAK PANELED ROOM, KNOWN AS THE "WREN ROOM"

Rectangular room, completely paneled in oak. Molded cornice, with a deep frieze-like cavetto molding carved with a bold treatment of acanthus leaves. The walls below are paneled in two divisions separated by a molded dado rail. The upper portion is paneled in single raised and beveled panels by raised classic moldings, the lower division being paneled with plain panels enclosed by similar raised moldings. Below is a simple skirting with molded upper edge. There are two single doors and one double door in the room, the doors being divided by molded stiles, the single doors into six, the double doors into three panels each. These doors are surrounded by architraves and lintels carved in a bold design of acanthus-leaf scrollings, in the case of the double doors nine groups of fruit and flowers are added to these, and there is a spade-shaped plain projecting tablet in the center. The fireplace is flanked by large fluted pilasters with Doric capitals, molded bases and rectangular pedestals which support a stepped frieze and a cornice which corresponds with that of the room. The over-mantel consists of a rectangular paneled oil painting enclosed by a carved molding and surrounded above and at the side by richly carved festoons and pendants of fruits and flowers suspended from bows of ribbons. The mantel shelf is molded and carved with water-leaf and acanthus motives, and the fireplace is surrounded by a boldly molded frame. There are five windows, with oak-lined embrasure linings of a later date, each window being divided into fifteen small panes by molded oak lattices. The size of the room is 9 feet 7 inches in height, 15 feet in width and 30 feet in length. Accompanied by two etchings by an English painter-etcher showing front and rear views of the house from which this paneled room was taken.

(Illustrated)

Note: This room, which was removed intact from an old house on one of the famous "Rows" in Bridge Street in the Cathedral city of Chester, was designed by Sir Christopher Wren, the architect of St. Paul's Cathedral, when he was passing through Chester on his way to Ireland. The famous architect was commissioned, tradition says, by the Corporation to design this room for the two brothers Bennett, each one of whom had served more than one term as Mayor of the City. It was intended as the main living, or, as we should now call it, reception, room of the house. Here it remained, sharing in the varying fortunes of this exquisite specimen of an old English burgher's home until it was removed by the present owner.

519—LATE SIXTEENTH CENTURY ENGLISH OAK PANELED ROOM, KNOWN AS THE "GUN HOUSE ROOM"

Interior of a rectangular room completely paneled in oak. This paneling, which stopped short of the ceiling so as to admit of an ornamental plaster frieze, is finished with a molded cornice and a shallow frieze decorated with sunken carving in a design of linked inverted C-curves enclosing veined leaves. Below is a wainscotting of small oblong panels divided by delicately molded stiles and descending, without a skirting, to the floor. The fireplace is treated with a corniced over-mantel of two deep square panels, the heavy molding surrounding them being richly carved with scrolled and indented patternings. The centers are occupied with lozenge-shaped figures bordered by raised moldings and the panels are separated and flanked by three carved caryatid pilasters of term-like human figures, the tapering pedestals of which are enriched with sunken carving. The shelf is molded, fluted and supported by a heavy bowed frieze and by three-quarter round turned pilasters with Ionic capitals, molded bases and square pedestals. The fireplace opening is of stone of a molded Tudor arch design.

The long, low window is casemented with three hinged casements of small panes of leaded glass, in the original wrought-iron casement frames with wrought-iron hinges and catches, while below is a window seat, the back and front of which are paneled to match the walls. The door, without architraves, is paneled in four divisions on the inner side by molded, and on the outer side by plain, stiles. The size of the room is 7 feet 6½ inches by 16 feet by 15 feet 6 inches.

(Illustrated)

Note: This room was removed, intact, from a historical house on the Market-place of Stroud, in Gloucestershire. The town, a royalist stronghold, was occupied during the Civil War by the Parliamentary forces under Oliver Cromwell, who himself tenanted this house, which (from the fact that he placed in front of it a battery of guns so as to command the Market-place) was thereafter known as the "Gun House." Cromwell used as his sleeping chamber the room from which the paneling and fittings were removed by the present owner.

No. 520—SEVENTEENTH CENTURY PIPE ORGAN FROM THE CHÂTEAU DE RETHEL [ARDENNES]

No. 521—SET OF TEN PANELS, TAKEN FROM THE GREAT DRAWING-ROOM OF RATHFARNHAM CASTLE, NEAR DUBLIN, PAINTED FOR LORD ELY BY ANGELICA KAUFFMANN which had hung at the back of the case probably for some centuries.

Height, 6 feet 10 inches; width, 3 feet 3 inches; depth, 2 feet 2½ inches.

(Illustrated)

Note: This organ was built in 1625 by the famous Nicolaus Mandescheidt of Nuremberg, the founder of a distinguished family of organ-builders who particularly excelled in the construction of these small, or, as we should now call them "cabinet," organs. The one here displayed was built to the order of a wealthy Nuremberg burgher named Kolner for his private oratory. His armorial bearings testifying to his descent from a Knight of Malta are carved on the front of the case. The organ was found by its present owner in a Château in the Ardennes region of France where it had been for the last 200 years. It is supposed that it formed part of the spoils of the Palatinate having been seized by an officer of the French King Louis XIV during the Thirty Years' War. It was while in place in this Château in 1858 that M. Saint-Saëns played upon this organ and was delighted with its mellow tone. It is this marvellously rich mellowness of tone, indeed, that is one of the old instrument's most notable characteristics.

521—SET OF TEN EIGHTEENTH CENTURY PANELS, IN OILS, WITH THE STORY OF "TELEMACHUS AND CALYPSO"

By Angelica Kauffmann. Rectangular shape and painted with a series of subjects portraying the adventures of Telemachus, the son of Ulysses, with the enchantress Calypso on the Island of Ogygia. The popularity, throughout the eighteenth century, of Fénelon's "Télémaque" led to a general familiarity with the incidents portrayed in these panels. The series begins with the dream of Telemachus while a shepherd in Ethiopia, and his acquaintance with Minerva in the guise of Mentor, continuing with the shipwreck of Telemachus and his arrival at Calypso's grotto and with his subsequent love-making with Calypso, the discovery of the lovers by Mentor and the departure of the latter at Calypso's command.

Height, 4 inches; width, 56 inches.

(Illustrated)

Note: These panels were painted in 1772 by Angelica Kauffmann as decorations for Rathfarnham Castle near Dublin, where she was the guest of Lord Ely. They then formed the chief decoration of the coffered ceiling of the large drawing room. The castle is now owned by the Jesuit Society, who have converted it to the uses of a college. The priests' objection to the panels as being pagan and irreligious led to their acquisition by the present owner. To display them to better advantage a room in the Georgian style, of which they form the frieze, has been constructed. These panels are shown in the position they originally occupied in the ceiling of the great Drawing Room of Rathfarnham Castle in the "Georgian Society (of Ireland) Records," Dublin, 1913, Plate LXXXIV, while reference is made to them on page 78.

522—SET OF SEVEN OIL PAINTINGS OF THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY
DUTCH SCHOOL

High decorative panels, originally forming the sides of a room and painted with landscapes and buildings and with a blue sky massed with white clouds. The subjects are all treated with pleasing effect in low tones of dark browns, greens and yellows.

Height, 10 feet 6 inches; width, 5 feet 5 inches.

523—EIGHTEENTH CENTURY VENETIAN HARPSICHORD

Shaped case. The lid and sides elaborately painted on a pale green ground with rococo scrollings and shells and acanthus leaves intertwined with garlands of flowers and leaves painted in their natural colors. Supported on a modern stand with six square fluted, astragalled and tapering legs. Keyboard of ivory and ebony inlaid with satinwood. The back of keyboard of pearwood, painted in a scroll design.

Height, 3 feet 2 inches; length, 6 feet 8 inches.

525—SIXTEENTH CENTURY FLEMISH OAK PULPIT

Pulpit box of hexagonal design with chamfered angles. Surmounted by a deep molded cornice breaking over the angles, the breaks being supported by carved cherubim and scrolled bracketings. Directly below are caryatid pilasters supporting molded and voluted capitals and formed of half-length human figures resting on carved pendants of clustered fruits. The six sides of the pulpit are paneled and occupied by carved full-length figures of Apostles resting on molded and fluted corbels. The base is heavily molded and the pedestal is formed of six conventional eagles with closed wings, perched, back to back, on a cluster of molded and voluted scrollings. The stepped square base is formed of heavy blocks of wood. The curving stairway leading to the pulpit has molded handrails, straight flat balusters pierced in a strapwork and vase pattern and square, vase-shaped columnar newels with square bases and molded capitals surmounted by turned and carved finials in the form of classic vases.

(Illustrated)

Note: This pulpit came originally from the Church of St. Jean in Lille and was used for many years in a London church before its acquisition by the present owner.

526—SEVENTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN WALNUT DOORWAYS

Molded, carved and dentelled cornice with broken pediment and deep frieze, the latter boldly carved with a center cartouche flanked by acanthus-leaf scrollings, supported by two three-quarter round pilasters with composite Corinthian capitals, the shafts elaborately carved, the upper portions in a design of imbrications, the lower portions with figures of winged Amorini holding bunches of grapes and supported by spirally disposed branches of vine leaves and grapes. Oblong pedestals, with paneled sides and fronts and molded bases and inner architrave moldings.

Height, 13 feet 4 inches; length, 7 feet 6 inches; depth, 1 foot 5 inches.

No. 527—SIXTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN CARVED AND PAINTED WOOD
ALTARPIECE

527—SIXTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN CARVED AND PAINTED WOOD
ALTARPIECE

In the form of a classic doorway with elaborately carved cornice having a carved upper member supported by carved and voluted modillions, an egg and dart carved lower member and a frieze enriched with pierced and carved acanthus scrollings issuing from figures of cherubim and having a projecting center decorated with the painted head of a cherub surmounted by acanthus-leaf scrollings. This cornice is surmounted by a broken pediment with voluted terminals and carved festoons of fruits naturalistically painted and having in the center a seated figure of a cherub holding a crown in both hands. The cornice and pediment are supported by two elaborately carved columns with acanthus-leaf and voluted capitals of the composite order and shafts very elaborately carved with arabesques in high relief, voluted scrollings, cherubim heads and full-length figures of cherubim all painted and gilt. These columns have molded bases and rectangular pedestals with carved cornices and base moldings, the fronts decorated with boldly carved gilt scrollings on a light blue ground. They are continued across the front by a painted imitation marble slab with circular and molded applied medallions. The whole structure rests upon a molded base whose front is carved and pierced in a design of acanthus scrollings.

Height, 12 feet 10 inches; width, 9 feet 2 inches.
